Dear Maurizio: Does sealing granite countertops change (lighten or darken) the original color of the granite? I am installing Paradiso Classico. Thank you.

Dear Karen:

There are two types of impregnating sealers: the regular impregnators (like MB-4) will not change the natural color of the stone. They will as soon as they are applied and are absorbed by the stone, but within several minutes it will go back to normal. The second type of impregnating sealers are the so-called color-enhancers (like MB-6). This latter type will indeed enhance the color of the stone they're applied to in a permanent way.

Now remember, it's never too early to think about the proper maintenance of your stone. The issue of what you'll be doing day in and day out to your stone is "as it should be intuitive" vastly more important than its sealing (if and when possible and/or advisable) and it's all too often neglected. As you can tell by reading many of this site's postings, you're not likely to get good information about routine care from your dealer or installer. Don't become another statistic! By logging into the Helpful Hints section of our website at: http://www.mbstone.com/HH\_promo/helpful\_hints.htm, you will be able to get the short version of our maintenance guidelines at no charge. The full version of it "a 7-page document considered by many as an industry benchmark" is available in pay-per-download format in our Educational Literature section at: <http://www.mbstone.com/literature/literature.htm>.

And remember, every single penny of the cost of the literature will be used to support this site and its cause: your cause.

While you are in the "Helpful Hints" section, do spend some time reading all of the interesting FREE articles you'll find in there!

Finally, keep in mind that we need your support to help us helping you!

By spreading the word about this valuable site among your friend & family and the stone trades' people you've been dealing with, you will be rendering everybody a valuable service!

Thank you

Ciao and good luck,
