We installed a Stone Forrest granite bathroom sink. WE had not sealed it yet. I placed a vase of Dayillies in water on it. The flowers dripped a re/purple substance from the blossoms onto the unsealed granite - the color has gone into the unsealed granite. What do we do!?

Dear Deanna:

Even if you had applied an impregnating sealer to it, the stain would have occurred anyway. Sealers for stone can only make the stone stain-resistant, never stain-proof. If you let a staining agent sit on stone long enough, even if sealed with the best impregnator in the world (for that particular stone), it will stain.

Having said that, there's no reason to panic; removing an organic stain from stone is child-play.

When it comes to stain removal, either you buy one of those expensive "Professional kits" (that no true professional ever uses!) at a stone retailer near you, or you can spend less money and get our comprehensive guidelines on how to remove stains by using inexpensive and far more effective means that you may already have in your household! Such impressive piece of literature will also tell you how to tell stains apart from "stains", and what to do about the latter! It does carry a small price tag, and you can order it by logging on at: <http://www.marblecleaning.org/literature.htm>. It's available in pay-per-download format and it's much cheaper than any kit on the market! Not to mention the little and much needed support you'd be giving to the cause " your cause - since every single penny of the cost of the article will be used to support it.

Also, will you please read and e-sign our Statement of Purpose by logging on at: <http://www.marblecleaning.org/purpose.htm>? By spreading the word about this valuable site among your friend & family and the stone trades' people you've been dealing with, you will be rendering everybody a valuable service!

Ciao and good luck,
