Hello Maurizio, We installed granite counters in our kitchen last week, there is one hairline crack running all the way to the bottom of the granite about for 1 feet. Is this normal - the company we installed with says it is very normal to have that and they assure it won't get worse. Please advice..... Raj

Dear Raj:

No it's not normal at all, and there no guarantee that it will not get worse. Most likely it will, as a matter of fact, unless the cause of the problem is not addressed properly.

And then, why should you accept even that crack?

Now remember, it's never too early to think about the proper maintenance of your stone. The issue of what you'll be doing day in and day out to your stone is â€œ as it should be intuitive â€œ vastly more important than its sealing (if and when possible and/or advisable) and it's all too often neglected. As you can tell by reading many of this site's postings, you're not likely to get good information about routine care from your dealer or installer. Don't become another statistic!
