

granite countertop damage

Authored by: Stu Rosen [mailto:mail@stoneshine.com]

Saved From: <https://marblecleaning.org/knowledgebase/article.php?id=1746>

Q.I have a brand new granite countertop that was installed only 2 months ago. I had a ceramic vase with flowers in it sitting on the countertop. The water leaked from the vase. When I cleaned it up, I noticed a number of raised white areas on the granite. Is there a chemical in the vase that may have damaged the countertop? How do I go about removing the damage?

A.Hi Kelly We will need more info to help you with your question.What granite do you have.I have a feeling it could be some minerals from the water that crystalized on the surface of your countertop.Try very gently with a new single edged razor blade to remove the white spots.Keep the razor blade at a 45 degree angle and dont force it too hard.Try one spot and see what happens.It it comes up easy enough do the rest then clean the area off with a ph neutral cleaner.Hey let us know if this works will ya.

Stu Rosen

www.mbstone.com

www.stoneshine.com