

Travertine floor - cracks & etching

Authored by: Stu Rosen [mailto:mail@stoneshine.com]

Saved From: <https://marblecleaning.org/knowledgebase/article.php?id=1787>

Q. We have honed travertine floors which were sealed when installed 5 years ago. I dropped a bottle of vinegar and it etched the floor. Is there a way to fix this? Also, we have several cracked tiles, how can this be addressed? Thanks

Hello Elizabeth-The whole bottle! We make a product called mb-11 that works on small etches but sometimes works on larger ones. I don't think it could fix a whole bottle worth of etching. Maurizio called it happiness in a jar!

Cracked Tiles if not structural can be repaired. If they are structural it may be a big job to replace them.

I think you should consider calling a pro to repair your floor. He or She will make it look like new again.

Find one at www.stoneandtilepros.com

Stu Rosen

www.mbstone.com

www.stoneshine.com