Hi Maurizio, I'm building a patio and would like to use ivory travertine pavers. I am concerned about leaf stains. Are leaf stains easily removed? Thanks, Chip

Dear Chip:

If you're concerned about leaf stains, then the only material that you should be considering to pave your patio is stainless steel or glass... :-)

Leaf stains are really notgning to worry about. They usually go away by themselves during the winter, but if you must clean them, a good powerwashing with a speciatly product like MB-9 at the end of the fall season will take care of that reasonably easily.
