I just bought rainforest brown for my kitchen floor. It was sold to me as granite, which is what I wanted. My husband says it's marble. Can you help settle this dispute? I have 12x12 squares. Thanks, Roberta

Dear Roberta:

You're both wrong, but you'reâ€ wronger! J

How could you possibly believe that's granite with all those deep veining?â€

It is mostly traded as marble, but it is in fact a weird form of compact dolostone with calcite binders (the deep veining). Welcome to stone industry, where everything goes!!

And now that you have it, it's time to learn how to care for it!
