

Lemon Juice Stain

Authored by: Maurizio Bertoli [mailto:mbstone.com]

Saved From: <https://marblecleaning.org/knowledgebase/article.php?id=877>

We recently spilt some lemon cordial over our black granite floor and it has left a white stain that we can't get rid of. Any suggestions

Dear Caroline:

Any suggestions?

Sure get hold of the merchants that sold those black granite tiles to you and demand to know what on earth they sold you as black granite. You will also demand that they take it back without giving you any aggravation (including all the expenses attached to the removal and the new installation of a good black granite), or else you will see their sorry butts inside a D.A. office on consumer fraud charges.

Black granite does not react to citric acid at all!

Here's one more proof that the world needs marblecleaning.org.

May I ask you now to please read and e-sign our Statement of Purpose at: <http://www.marblecleaning.org/purpose.htm>?

Ciao and good luck,

Maurizio Bertoli

www.marblecleaning.org – The Only Consumers' Portal to the Stone Industry Establishment!